

Quarterly Communication

Winter 2018

New Goals for the New Year

- Increase our communication – Much of the strength of our organization comes from providing the people concerned with career development and transition with information to help them provide these services. Our aim this year is to increase access to this information via email blasts, these quarterly communications, and allowing you to connect with each other via a Facebook platform.
- Increase our membership – We also increase our strength and resources as we expand our numbers. We aim to expand these number, and we are looking to you, our members, to help us achieve this.
- Scholarships- We want to recognize educators who are creating innovative transition programming. More on this in the coming months.
- Conference- And, of course, we want to continue to provide high quality, in person, programming: great presenters, face to face networking, and recognition of individuals and organizations that make a difference across the state.

Join our Network – VADCDDT is pleased to announce our new Facebook page.

Find us at: Virginia Division on Career Development and Transition – Vadcddt.

This is a great way to stay on top of the latest happenings throughout the commonwealth, upcoming events, and allows VADCDDT members (and others) to interact on a daily basis.

Get others to Join our Network – Spread the word to your colleagues. Tell them to join CEC and VADCDDT. Tell them about how they can build their own career development and transition network. Tell them about how CEC and DCDT help to provide them with information regarding legislative development, model programs, tools, strategies, and resources. Tell them about how our membership helps to build opportunities for individuals with disabilities. Remember, as our numbers grow, so does our knowledge base and our influence.

Deadline 1/29- Don't forget about the upcoming deadline to apply for one of the six mini-grants offered by The Inclusion Project. These grants can provide up to $2000 to support an Inclusion Project event.
